St. Cloud Jollies of 1926 Will Be Given at High School Nov. 5th

The biggest fun show for local people ever produced in St. Cloud is in store for amusement seekers, according to an announcement made Wednesday by the Citizens committee, which is endeavoring to raise funds for the purchase of a new heating plant in the tourist club house. The committee has made arrangements with F. C. Lake, of Klamath Falls, to produce the Jollies of 1926 in St. Cloud in the high school auditorium on Nov. 5th. A similar show was produced by Mr. Lake in Klamath Falls last week and it scored the biggest hit of any home talent show presented in that town in recent years.

While the St. Cloud Jollies will be along the same lines it will be an entirely different show. It will be an all local show with an all local cast. The show calls for a cast of about 25 people. There will be five acts, each one depicting some St. Cloud scene, the characters being local folks well known in club, civic and political life in this city. The things of these people, which, of course, border on the ridiculous, will be a riot of fun, frolic and frivolity.

All the cream of St. Cloud amateur talent will be seen in this show, and it is expected that new local faces will also appear on the high school stage for the first time. Also one of the unique features of the show will be the appearance of women in male roles. This will produce many laughs.

The Jollies of 1926 is connected purely for local amusement. Each character will be a person well known to all, and each will be portrayed by an equally well known person.

This show is modeled after the famous gridiron dinner given annually by the Press Club in Washington, D. C. Of course liberties are taken with the president down in that show, and the same idea will be followed in St. Cloud. It's all going to be a many a laugh at the expense of the home folk. The committee in charge asks that everyone bear in mind that the motto

"St. Cloud Don't Need Tombstone, She Ain't Dead!"

Primarily at 6:30 o'clock the Kalevala orchestra struck up strains of music and the guests at the Get-together banquet given by the Chamber of Commerce had already begun to arrive. As they came they were seated at the tables which were attractively decorated in Halloween colors with orange candles on each of the six long tables. After all that could be seated and the candles lighted, which presented a scene which made you think of "Ya idios times." After the large number of attractive young ladies had served the first course, which was most daintily served, consisting of chicken and all the "fixings", the lights were turned on and a most enjoyable social time followed. The orchestra played during the dinner hour. Dessert of ice cream and cake was served.

President Landis called the meeting to order and stated its purpose. A quartette and encore by Dawley, Porter, Bennett and Landis was a good starter.

President Landis introduced Hon. Edna Davis, attorney of Klamath Falls, and St. Cloud, who was to be the "key note" speaker. After expressing in a gracious manner the pleasure of himself and wife in being a part of this splendid gathering, he went immediately into his theme, the subject of which was "Encouragement," stressing the fact that it is an element that does not cost a dime, yet is of inestimable value in getting best results with school children, boy scouts, religious training, citizenship, teaching proper reverence to "Old Glory," band work, etc. Bearing in mind that encouragement and courtesy given now comes in our city, in fact, selling St. Cloud to St. Cloud people meant in a few years a city of at least 8,000 inhabitants. Each country will be developed and prosperous farmers with modern homes, living near us and being a part of us will be the result.

G. C. Hunter, a man of large business experience was the next speaker called. Mr. Hunter gave an illustration of statements heard on the street. "The other day one man who was passing through, asked a man on the sidewalk, 'How's business?' Answer, 'Trotter!' There is no reason for gloom, trouble is largely within ourselves. We can not afford to knock our own town."

One of the most pleasing numbers was a solo and encore by Fred Smith accompanied on the piano by Leon D. Lamb.

President Landis said that while listening in on the radio he heard Ed and Mamie McConnell in Chicago, lauding St. Cloud. They were telling that the soil was so fertile here that G. C. Hunter started a bungalow before he left last spring, and while he was gone it grew into a fine large hotel.

"Farmer" A. H. Merrill spoke briefly but with much humor. He said that encouragement was not what he needed but sun shine was his reason for being a resident of St. Cloud. After a tour of the United States he picked this location for future action.

Members of the quartette came in, addressed the club, and S. W. Porter acting as spokesman offered the following resolution which was sung to the tune of "After the Ball," which brought the house down. Now that the boom is over And all our signs in vain, We'll make up our sub-divisions And speed up the tractors again. Fertilize trees that are dying, Laugh at foreclosed alarms, Plant out some corn and potatoes And advertise Florida farms.

B. L. Stoen brought to the audience the value of a Chamber of Commerce in a community in which he stated that "organized effort in any line is a success," but in the organized effort of Chamber of Commerce work, there is greater value than any other.

The reception committee deserves much credit for the manner in which this evening's entertainment was handled. After two hundred tickets were sold, it became necessary to change the place of meeting to the Community club house, in the city park to accommodate the guests. The committee had one regret and that was they could not serve the crowd, as there were about four hundred in attendance and they had thought they that they would be lucky if two hundred attended.

"St. Cloud don't need any tombstone she is far from dead," such inspirational meetings as this, if held once a month, would meet with universal enthusiasm.

Local Legion To Hold Three-Day Festival Commencing Armistice Day

Post 30 American Legion held one of the largest and most successful meetings in its career at the G. A. R. hall this week. The program for the Welcome Home Festival was taken up in detail and working in conjunction with the auxiliary the various committees were appointed to carry out the details of the three day celebration. They are as follows:

General Committee, Colvin Parker, Chairman, Cottrell; Parade Committee, Lenox Trickle and Mrs. George. Entertainment committee, Mrs. Bloech, Mrs. Trickle, Mr. Davidson and Mr. Becker. Committee of hosts, C. Parker, Erley, Osterer and Mesdames French, Cottrell, Davidson, Crawford and Erley. Finance committee, John and Crawford and Mrs. George. The program for the festival was gone over in detail and tentatively adopted, subject to minor changes. Thursday, Armistice Day will start with a parade in which the G. A. R. Post, the Spanish War Veterans, the Legion Post, the Legion Auxiliary, the Boy Scouts and various civic bodies will take part. The line of march will end at the City Park shortly before 11 a. m. At that hour the city whistle will blow and after a salute of silence, taps will be sounded. An address of welcome and the official opening of the festival will be given by the Mayor, and the address of the day will be given by Dr. Hamilton Holt of Hollins college. At one thirty a tennis tournament will be started as well as a horse show match. At two o'clock there will be a pep meeting for the High School football team, who will be sent on their way to Klamath Falls for their annual game with the local high school. During the afternoon ballads of the progress of the game will be announced from the band shell. At three o'clock there will be a band concert in which the famous drum corps of the G. A. R. Post will take part. During the evening the Boy Scouts will give an exhibition, a children's hour will be held at seven-thirty and at nine o'clock a playlet will be given at the club house. Friday will see putting contests, the continuance of the tennis tournament, three legged and potato races, sack race, a casting tournament for the fishermen. In the afternoon, through the courtesy of Dickson's Dept. Store of Orlando, the fashion show of that store will put on a show of the latest women's creations. The contestants for the beauty show will be introduced at the club house in the evening. This event will be followed by a dance. On Saturday there will be an archery tournament, another exhibition by the Boy Scouts, and the final voting for the King and the Queen of the Festival. On Saturday morning it is planned to have a comic parade, while the day will end with the formal crowning of the King and the Queen, who will lead a grand march as an opening feature to the farwell dance. In addition to the festival program a tentative slate for the officers of the Legion for the following year was adopted. It is understood that other nominations may be made in addition to those of Monday evening.

For Commander Otto Bloech, Vice-Commander Lenox Trickle, Adjutant "Cap" Geiger, Finance Officer Colvin Parker, Sergeant-at-Arms H. F. Corder, Chaplain C. A. Hunt, Historian Earle Corder, Messers Parker and Bloech were appointed an auditing committee.

After refreshments had been served by the auxiliary, the meeting adjourned. A special effort will be made to get members of the Legion who belong to other than the local post to affiliate with it for the coming year. As dues in the Legion date from October 29, it is suggested that all legionnaires join the local post for the coming season. Information as to the date and place of meeting may be obtained from the Chamber of Commerce.

Next Monday night, October 25 will be election of officers of the Legion and a large attendance is expected.

MRS. SARAH HAMMOND-BUNN, NELL, SERIOUSLY INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Mrs. Sarah Hammond-Bunn was seriously injured Monday afternoon when the car in which she was returning with Mrs. Amelia Miller from Pleasant Grove near Durant, Fla., collided with a car driven by Hayford McLaughlin, of Klamath Falls, near the curve and railroad crossing at the old city fair-ground south of Klamath Falls. Mrs. Hammond and Mrs. Miller were enroute to St. Cloud after attending a revival meeting at Pleasant Grove. Mrs. Miller's car was turned back toward Tampa and turned over, knocking down several guard posts at the side of the highway.

Mr. and Mrs. McLaughlin hurried to the assistance of the ladies, and found Mrs. Bunn pinned under the car and Mrs. Miller with her arm broken and her face bruised was extricated from beneath the car and taken to Klamath Falls where first aid was rendered. Mr. Jones, of the Hollin Motor company in Klamath Falls, brought Mrs. Bunn to her home on north Missouri avenue in St. Cloud. Dr. J. D. Bunn was called to attend Mrs. Bunn, and it was found that she had sustained serious internal abdominal injuries.

Mrs. Bunn is the mother of Miss Hazel Hammond, teacher in the vocational school and assistant to Secretary Keisley of the Chamber of Commerce.

ASTORS OF CITY SHOW SPIRIT OF GOOD FELLOWSHIP AND CO-OPERATION

The pastors of the local churches showed their spirit of co-operation and good fellowship in changing the regular Wednesday prayer meeting to Thursday evening in order that it might not conflict with the Chamber of Commerce "Get-together" banquet at the city park community club house. It was found to be impossible to cure one of the principal speakers at the banquet on Thursday evening, as pastors of the various churches actively co-operated in arranging the event for Wednesday.

METHODIST CHURCH NOTES

Dr. Hyndman, who is himself a native of Wales, prefaced his address by singing selections of various Welsh hymns in the Welsh language. The familiar "Dionch eddo" and "Tom-y-bote" rang among the numbers. After a brief history of the revival, Hyndman gave an account of some of his personal experiences as one of the workers in the great religious awakening.

There was an interesting meeting of the local Red Cross at the city library on Tuesday afternoon at which time Mrs. Charlotte Bestman, national secretary of Red Cross, with headquarters at Jacksonville was present, and spoke on world wide growth of the Red Cross and its influence for international friendship and peace.

She stressed the point that there is no other common ground upon which the fifty-eight nations meet with one common purpose with the simple cry "Human Helpfulness."

The question whether or not the St. Cloud chapter is in conflict, was discussed at length. In order to know the feeling of the people of this city in regard to this subject a mass meeting will be held at the Red Cross headquarters at the Chamber of Commerce rooms next Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

DELEGATES IN ATTENDANCE AT STATE EDITORS ASSOCIATION AT DAYTONA BEACH, FLORIDA, ON OCTOBER 8 AND 9, 1926

BAPTIST CHURCH NOTES

(Rev. B. Atchison, Pastor)

New faces are now seen in the congregation every week. The services are all well attended. Four new members were received into the fellowship of the church last Sunday morning. The subject for the morning service was put in the form of a question, "Do we need a spiritual awakening here in St. Cloud?" We tried to prove by the scriptures that God had made some gracious provisions for the fallen and shortcomings of His people. The experience of the average Christian is so changeable, on the mountain top today and down in the valley tomorrow. He has therefore made ample provision for the church or the individual that feels their spiritual need to revive the work of grace in the soul and amidst with the Holy Spirit for service. This manifestation of God's power in the church will result naturally in the conversion of sinners and this is what we mean by a revival meeting and also the kind of a meeting that St. Cloud needs.

Such a meeting cannot be worked up by the energy of the flesh but can be prayed down from heaven whenever and wherever a sufficient number in the church are willing to meet the conditions which are clearly revealed in the scriptures.

There is no question about the need, not only here in St. Cloud but everywhere. Let us therefore pray earnestly for such an awakening here in St. Cloud.

Some have been enquiring recently about the principles of the Baptist church. As a result the pastor will preach next Sunday morning on "What the Baptist Church Stands For," or "Why Am I a Baptist?" During the evening service we will endeavor to explain the 20th chapter of Matt. and especially verse six as a result of a special request last Sunday. Strangers are always welcome to every meeting of the church. "Come then with us and we will do thee good." Special music will be rendered by the male quartette at both services next Sunday.

Mrs. James Campbell, who has been attending the National Encampment of the G. A. R. and visiting relatives in Minnesota, returned Saturday night.

STATE AND NATIONAL CONVENTION OF REALTORS

At a meeting of the Realtors Board Friday night matters were up for consideration. Those present were R. L. Steen, Mrs. Louise B. Rosenthal, G. C. Hunter, Wm. Landless, S. W. Porter, H. A. Haymaker, C. S. and H. S. Dawber.

A communication was received with reference to the state convention of the Realtors association which is to be held November 4, 5, and 6, at Daytona Beach. The invitation includes the wives and children of the Realtors. One round of golfing is promised.

At the national convention to be held in Miami, January 12, 13 and 14 a sight seeing trip over the state has been arranged at the close of the convention. A special train to convey the party has been arranged for 15 the state association. The train will be parked at various points along the route, and the trip will be varied by excursions in automobiles which will enable the visiting Realtors to become acquainted with the cities and their surrounding regions in detail. This tour will last for seven days and end at Jacksonville.

The matter of a demonstration farm was taken up and discussed at length, and a committee consisting of S. W. Porter, H. A. Haymaker and H. S. Jander was appointed for the purpose of formulating a workable plan.

ARCHERY—NO. 2

The bow is undoubtedly the oldest weapon in use today and that it is still in use as the main weapon of people of today is proven by the recent discovery of a party of explorers in Dutch Guiana, who found a tribe of negroid pygmies whose only weapon was the bow and arrow.

The bow has existed in every corner as a principle weapon of offense and defense except in Australia and even there miniature bows have been found which shot a tiny poisoned arrow which the native black man encased in his hair.

The origin of the first bow is so ancient that it is, of course, unknown. But archeologists because of discoveries of the last decades place the date of the first flat arrow heads at 25000 years ago and undoubtedly the first arrows were only sharpened sticks or even just the blunt stick may have been used before they that of sharpening them.

Until the discovery of gunpowder the bow was the industry of all the military nations of the earth. The ancient Persians carried their bows into all parts of Asia. The Roman army of Caesar won by force of arms the subjection of all the then known world with the bow and arrow. The Huns of Attila, the Greeks and Egyptians found in it a conquering weapon also.

The greatest fighting men of all time, the Scandinavian Vikings, of the year 400 and 450 A. D. used a bow very similar to the ones now in use, being from 5 feet and 6 inches to 6 feet long and the only important difference is that the flat side of their bow was the belly and the round side the back; which is the reverse of the long-bow of today.

In the hands of the English the bow was developed to its highest state and due to their temperament they became its most skilled users—and many were the laws passed regulating its manufacture and use.

Our fore-fathers lived and died by the bow and arrow and in England five Kluges have been shot with it. Archery is often called the sport of Kluges, but it seems to have been the death of Kluges as well.

Don't Get Up Nights

Nature's Danger Signal Followed by Tenn. Man. Wants Other to Know

J. L. Church, Knoxville Tenn. says: "I had to get up 10 to 12 times each night. Burning was almost unbearable. Passed much food and pus. Had no feeling except what I felt in the bladder (Kluge For-ward). I feel 100 per cent better. My friends say 'How much better you look.' Will tell or write my experience to any one."

Lithiated Bichs cleanses the bladder as soon as the Kluge. It is not a patent medicine. The formula is on the bottle. The bottle cost 25 cents at drug stores. Kell Laboratories, Mechanicsburg, Ohio. Locally at Robinson's Pharmacy.

"THE GOOSE THAT LAID THE GOLDEN EGG"

AS you perhaps it was another of those ancient characters of mythology tells the story of a farmer who owned a wonderful goose. The greatest selling point about this goose was that every day it laid an egg of solid gold. By marketing the daily offerings of this remarkable fowl the farmer was enabled to pay off the mortgage, buy a fine six cylinder car, and generally improve his worldly condition. After a time he grew impatient of the slow but sure income from the goose, and, possibly urged by the act, his wife killed the goose in order to get all the wealth of golden eggs which he thought she was hiding out on him. As a result he probably realized a few small nuggets, but when these were spent, he was compelled to dig out his old patched overalls and get back on the job of tilling his fields to keep the well known wolf away from the well known door.

Now one could not accept this yarn as being literally true, but like so many ancient, oriental legends, it teaches us a lesson that is fundamentally true. The mental process of the farmer of the legend is identical to the lack of foresight shown by a good many of the property owners right here in St. Cloud today.

Our merchants, business men, banks, realtors and home owners depend for their annual ride of golden prosperity on the winter visitors who annually migrate southward fleeing from the rigors of the long northern winters. These people know that we have an unequalled winter climate to offer them, and as long as we will let them they will be back winter after winter with the unfailing regularity of the sacrificial goose of the legend. They will however resent, and quite properly, too, being exploited and fleeced to fill the pockets of the Florida people whose part should be that of their hosts.

I have conversed with tourists who are in this city, because the rentals demanded in neighboring towns were prohibitive, and also talked with people who were leaving St. Cloud for other points, because they felt that we were out to rob them here.

A property owner who has rooms, apartments and houses to rent is surely entitled to a reasonable profit to be computed. Many people are too much inclined to define it as all the traffic will bear. Tactics of this sort result will cause the tourist to be inclined to regard the whole town with the same feeling that he regards his landlord, and the town as a whole gets a black eye as a result of the selfishness of the individual.

Rents should be computed according to the amount invested in the property, plus carrying charges such as insurance and taxes divided by the average number of months that the property may reasonably be expected to rent, say five or six months out of every year. If the property rents for the year-round, the monthly rental can be considerably less, and still make money for the home holder. No one can reasonably object to paying for a thing what it is worth, but they can and do object to paying more.

Let our people, who own rental property, sit down with paper and pencil and figure out what their rentals should be instead of slaving up their prospect and asking him all that you think he can stand.

This policy will fill your home with paying guests while your "lily or rose" neighbor's home is empty and will have a much better taste in the mouth of your tenant and insure for St. Cloud in the future a continuance of that friendly feeling on the part of our northern visitors that she has enjoyed so largely in the past.

Don't be one of those who are doing their best to kill the goose that lays the golden egg.

THE JUNK PILE

By "CAP"

Just one word of explanation, gentle reader. This column is not the mouth piece of any one or anything except the writer. If statements appear in it the writer as a private individual alone is responsible. That is the reason that this column is named, so that there may be no doubt as to its source as the emotions of an alleged mind.

Hence the reason for the Junk Man's having trained so industriously these last few weeks he can now do a hundred in a little less than nothing if need should arise.

A query heard in the lobby of the S. Cloud Hotel will bear repetition: "What is the use of keeping a cow when milk is so cheap?" Think that one over.

Also did you hear the one about the summer girl who, when her boy friend asked her to give him something that he could carry in the back of his watch to remember her by, promptly handed him her bathing suit?

If all the plans of the Legion Post come true St. Cloud certainly is going to have a humdinger of an Armistice Day celebration. Perhaps its name as a "Home Coming Celebration" is better for the plans embrace a three day program with parades, and beauty shows, and kings and queens an' every thing.

Anyway, the Legion and their ladies have a way of putting on a good show in this town, and it is not telling any secrets to say that this year will be the best one ever.

As this goes to press another celebration will be just starting. We refer to the get-together dinner at the Chamber of Commerce, an occasion when all gloom and pessimism is to be buried for all times and St. Cloudites will again stand shoulder to shoulder in a solid phalanx for the welfare of their city and its advancement.

Say what you please, anytime that a city the size of St. Cloud can dig up twenty-five thousand dollars and start a new bank, after a long hard summer it is inherently sound and all right.

Did you ever think of the history of Florida towns? It's a pretty fine record. Jacksonville burned up and today better and bigger than ever. Key West wrecked by a hurricane more than once and a fine clean out city today. Miami Havenlies after all their harrowing experience just raring to get in and rebuild their town, those on the east coast already making their beautiful Wonder City a greater and more beautiful city than ever and we here in St. Cloud?

Burned out in 1917. The First National Bank failure six months later, the bank trouble of the past summer and still we go serenely on our way, rebuilding where necessary, new pavements, new sewers, new water mains, new bank—why just try to stop this town and you will think that you are indulging with the business and of a five ton Mack truck.

Its tough luck to have to paint floors, but its tougher luck yet to have a cat arrive just after the flowers are painted. If you don't believe it ask John Woods at the St. Cloud Hotel.

Allice in Wonderland said "That pigs might fly, but that they made unlikely birds." The Junk Man is glad in more ways than one that pigs don't fly.

Here is a suggestion for a new industry in our fair city, a real business opportunity. Why does not some woman establish a button-sewing-hole-mending bureau? Surely such a thing is needed if the Junk Man's clothes are any criterion, and surely too, there are enough widowers, bachelors and unsuccessful husbands to keep such an establishment busy.

You can put a red ring around the next few weeks, for they are going to be lively times in St. Cloud. First comes the Get-Together dinner at the Chamber of Commerce, then the opening of the new bank which from every indication will be some where in the first part of November, and then the three-day party beginning Armistice Day. And that is just the beginning of things. From then on there will be color, socially, and in a business way as well.

But don't make the mistake of trying to compare this year with last. It's not fair to the state, to the visitors or to yourself. It's going to be a tough lesson to learn, but those who expect a repetition of 1925 are going to feed themselves. The true basis of comparison is with the same months in 1924. And if you will look you will find that 1925 is way ahead of that mark, and if you will remember 1924 wasn't such a bad year after all. Let's be normal, and have our com-persons and our hopes on normalcy rather than superheated optimism that generally leaves indigestion instead of prosperity behind it.

Every sign that amounts to anything indicates that we are in for a slow steady growth just like the rest of the state; that it is up to us to develop something more than just our wonderful climate, which in the case of St. Cloud, is its wonderful farming lands. More cars are coming across the St. Johns river bridge at Jacksonville than in 1924. More freight cars are in actual use. Home building is on the increase in every city in the state worthy of the name. Maybe there "ain't no boom", but what we have, and what we can get if we will go out and get it is worth a thousand times more for permanent prosperity.

The Junk Man has more than once seen a similar situation in the automobile business. Times have been in that industry when you couldn't get cars fast enough, when you didn't sell them, the public just took them away from you and even the worst dub of a sales man was making commissions hand over fist. Then somehow, no one knew just why, the selling fell off, and the order takers fell away and the real salesmen remained, and kept right on building up and making money. That's pretty much the situation today in the real estate field. The man with something real to sell, and the ability to sell it may not do quite so much business, but what he does will stay put and there won't be so many cancellations and "slow" moves and things a year from now. One may have to really work to sell, but after all that's to be expected in any line of endeavor at any time.

In other words don't get peevish and down hearted, because they are not forcing money on you today, any guy can take money when it's given him, but just hang on and work all the harder, and before the winter is a thing of the past you will find that this season has not been such a bad thing after all. Polly Anna? Not at all. Just plain honest sense.

Outside of that, cheer up anyway. You might have had hash for breakfast. Good bye, folks till next week.

Sanford is known as the "Florida Celery City," but it is now making a record for growing pepper, the crop this year, it is estimated, will exceed $100,000 in value.

It is said that "sex-warble" fly does attack not only cattle but also men and children. They generally sting cattle in the hoof, the grubs hatch and work their way around through the body. With the men and children the grubs work their way from the legs through the body to the back, stomach, root of tongue and teeth. Fly-Tex against sex-warble fly. To the Voters of Osceola County:

I am the Democratic Nominee for County Commissioner from District No. 5 having been nominated by the largest majority over my opponent of any Candidate in this district.

I have served as County Commissioner for the past two years, and have worked hard and earnestly for good roads and the betterment of the county, and, if elected, to this office again, I pledge myself to work and support all matters that is for the best interest to the county, namely, good roads, drainage and navigable canals, which I think will give us cheaper freight rates.

I was in the general contracting business for 20 years, building Macadam roads, railroad and all kinds of commercial buildings, and I thoroughly understand all such work.

At present, I am developing a grove, three miles north of Kenansville having set out ten acres to citrus last year, and expect to set out the same amount this winter.

To those that don't know me I refer you (without permission) to either of the banks in Kissimmee.

Thanking you for your past support, and, assuring you I will appreciate any support and influence in the future, I am, Yours for Victory, November 2, 1936.

The Greater Love

The emotional force which the young sister used in her great Operatic roles began to display itself, as she restlessly paced the length of the room and continued to talk.

"Don't you realize that if Barry thinks you're playing with him that it will absolutely break his heart?" she demanded, gazing directly into my face.

"Oh, I don't believe that!" I exclaimed. "Barry thinks he cares for me but I believe it is because, manlike, he thought he could never have me while I belonged to someone else. He wrote poetry and romance around what he believed to be his unrequited desire. It was his 'love'—the unattainable—his quest for the elusive, also his sympathy for what he thought was—my unhappy plight which prompted him to ask me to be his wife. If I should change my mind after I've secured the divorce, I know he would soon forget." I had ignored Lemoyne's words, my only wish being to make her less sad, and so the words fell thick and fast, as I voiced the hapless phrases which tumbled about in my mind.

"How can you sit there and talk in that cool, indifferent manner about the man for whom I would gladly lay down my life?" she cried, "you know what he means to me, do you not? You were bound to have known in Paris how much I cared and it seems to me that you deliberately made yourself attractive before his eyes to steal the love which was mine. Mine, I tell you! Do you hear?" she stood motionless before my chair, her whole face was deathly white. "Ellie told me when we first met you that you were a mendacious flirt and I believe it now."

"What have you to offer him?" she asked, "not even the love that he craves. You say you are marrying him to help him with his work. It isn't so, you're deceiving yourself! Deep down in your heart you know and you can't deny that you still love Curtis Wright. You've had a quarrel with him and you're snatching at Barry's proposal with only your own welfare in sight. Let us be frank. Am I not right?"

A dramatic silence ensued. "Well, what if I have considered myself?" I flashed back at her, almost indignant, though I still held my temper in check. "I'm only human, you know and besides, I've explained to Barry exactly how I feel. I've been absolutely honest with him about the whole affair."

"And he still wants you?" Is satisfied with the sort of jelly-fish affection you're offering him in the place of love? Oh," she moaned, "he has simply lost his head, poor dear boy! Great tears stood in her eyes."

I was greatly moved. "He told me you no longer loved him," I said, "and I believed it was true."

"Yes, I know. He would tell you anything to win his point. He has an impulsive nature like that. And he believed if he should lose you his whole future would be wrecked. At least I want you to marry him now, I wish to God we had talked things over before you gave him your word."

"Why, Lemoyne," I said softly, "I do not understand, you say you love him and that I will not make him a good wife and yet you urge me to marry him. You are inconsistent, to say the least."

I was no longer incensed at her tirade. I only felt a desire to right the unhappy situation which I had unwittingly created by my acceptance of Barrying Pierce.

"What else is there, a me to do since you've led him on, to this point, to anyone requiring the services of a first class mechanic. He has worked in our various installation departments for several months, and has proved himself worthy and capable of handling any mechanical position entrusted to him. It is with many regrets we are losing his services.

For Representative

To the Voters of Osceola County:

At the request of many of the voters of Osceola county, I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Representative subject to the will of the voters on November 2. If elected I will support the platform announced by the Osceola County Non-partisan organization, to-wit: No change in the present fish and game laws unless it be some provision to make their enforcement more stringent. For Commissioner District No. 5

To the Voters of Osceola County:

At the earnest solicitation of many of the voters of Osceola County, I hereby announce myself a candidate for County Commissioner of District No. 5, Osceola County, Florida.

I have lived in Florida continuously for forty-four years; I lived in Santa Rosa county for thirty-eight years and served on the Board of County Commissioners of that county as its chairman for eight consecutive years. I have made a study of all duties pertaining to the Board of County Commissioners. I am familiar with finances and taxation, road building and maintenance of roads; I claim to be one of the pioneers of good roads advocates in Florida.

I have lived in this county nearly three years; have come in contact with many of the citizens of the county and pride myself on having a good spirit of observation and progressiveness; I feel fully qualified to fill this office to the advancement and progress of the county in general. Since I became a full fledged citizen (April 4th, 1893) I have had occasion to travel and know every county in the state and also the possibilities and needs of the different counties.

My record as a citizen and as an official are absolutely clean and if elected I will promise a fair and impartial administration, and I will thank any and all voters to investigate my record, for by doing so I am confident of their votes.

Thanking you in advance for your kind consideration and vote, I am,
P. TOMARELLA, Jr.

If selected to this office I have but one promise: "Strict adherence to efficient government." I shall have no such fund to offer, for I am opposed to that method of procuring office.

I am a subscriber to the principles set forth in the Osceola County Non-partisan platform, and shall adhere to those policies.

Thanking you for your consideration and support, I am, respectfully yours,
F. W. AMES
